

Telstra IoT/M2M Certified Embedded Modules and Integrated Devices

Published Date: 16th January 2025

Overview

Listed below are the Cellular Embedded Modules and Integrated Devices that have been certified for use on the Telstra Mobile Network. The devices in this list have passed Telstra's IoT/M2M Interoperability Testing Program as meeting Telstra's mandatory criteria and guidelines.

Telstra IoT/M2M device interoperability testing is a cellular network certification and validation process carried out on cellular IoT/M2M devices to ensure that they are interoperable with Telstra's mobile network. Telstra strongly recommends module and device manufacturers certify their IoT/M2M devices on Telstra network to ensure optimum network performance.

Telstra publishes the Telstra Wireless Application development Guidelines that offers developers an overview of best develop an application that works efficiently on the Telstra mobile network.

Telstra decommissioned its 3G network on October 28, 2024. Telstra requires all new IoT/M2M cellular capable devices to support 4G or 5G and VoLTE if voice is required, 4G presents several unique technological improvements that provide significant benefits to IoT/M2M implementations such as much greater network capacity and efficiency, and greater in-building penetration when 4GX Band 28 is supported.

Any device must support these coverage bands as a minimum (see Telstra's IoT network coverage map):

- 5G: n78, n7, n26
- 4G: Band 7 and Band 28 and Band 3
- LTE-M and NB-IoT: Band 28

Integrated devices using a certified module must incorporate the Telstra certified firmware version on the module. Customers using Telstra certified devices must ensure the latest Telstra certified module and firmware version is implemented. This step is crucial to guarantee seamless interoperability between the device and the network. The Module Vendor will be able to provide you the latest Telstra certified firmware version.

All modules and devices certified via Telstra's IoT/M2M Certification Program must support remote firmware upgrade capability.
