3 Voice2Text

Voice2Text service

- 3.1 Voice2Text is a service that converts a voice message received in your MessageBank mailbox from speech to text and delivers it to your mobile as a long text message.
- 3.2 The “from” field in the converted text message will display the caller’s number (where the caller’s number is available).
- 3.3 If parts of a message cannot be converted they may be marked or omitted from the converted message. If an entire message cannot be converted for any reason (for example due to excessive background noise) a text notification will be sent. If the message is too long it will be truncated and marked as a long message.

Part F – Managing Calls

- 3.4 If the Voice2Text service is activated, text conversions or notifications will replace your standard 101 notifications. You can still call 101 to listen to a received voice message, which will be marked as “read” in your mailbox. Standard MessageBank storage times apply.

Eligibility

- 3.5 You are eligible to receive the Voice2Text service if you are a Telstra Mobile Network post-paid customer.
- 3.6 You can activate the Voice2Text service by calling us.

Compatibility

- 3.7 Voice2Text replaces any other voice mail or messaging service you may have, other than MessageBank.

Processing of Voice2Text

- 3.8 Where a voice message is processed using speech-to-text translation:
- (a) it may take up to 20 minutes for the converted text message or notification to be sent to you (on average it should take around 3.5 minutes);
 - (b) you will receive a converted text message or notification in place of the usual 101 notification for voice messages;
 - (c) we do not promise that the speech-to-text translator correctly translates the message or that the conversion will be word for word;
 - (d) if parts of a message cannot be converted they may be marked or omitted;
 - (e) in some instances, we may use a third party agent to assist in the translation of individual words or small portions of a voice message;
 - (f) if the speech-to-text conversion cannot convert a message, for example because the message is not in English, because of poor diction, poor connection, context or background noise, we will send you a text notification to call 101 to listen to the voice message; and
 - (g) if the voice message is too long for us to convert into the equivalent of 3 text messages, the text will be truncated and the message will tell you to call 101 if you want to listen to the entire message.

Part F – Managing Calls

Use and content of messages

- 3.9 We are not responsible for the content of any converted voice mail messages you receive from another person. We do not censor or filter messages that pass through the system and we simply supply a technical service enabling voice messages to be converted to text messages.
- 3.10 You must not use or permit the Voice2Text service to be used:
- (a) to breach any laws, standards, content requirements or applicable codes of conduct;
 - (b) to infringe a third party's rights; or
 - (c) in connection with any machine-to-machine or automated or commercial applications other than the conversion of voice mails received in a personal mailbox.

We may suspend, limit or disable your use of the Voice2Text service at any time if you have used or allowed the service to be used in a way described above.

We charge you for each message we send to you as part of the Voice2Text service, whether we were able to convert the voice message or not and even if the message is not delivered or received.

3.13 We will give you a credit equivalent to the monthly subscription charge for the option you have selected for the first calendar month of your use

The credit will appear on your first or second Telstra Mobile bill after you connect to the Voice2Text service and will be credited against your monthly charges. The credit is not transferable or redeemable for cash. Standard MessageBank charges apply to MessageBank usage during this first month.

- 3.14 Any unused included converted text messages and non-converted notifications expire at the end of each month and cannot be rolled over. The included allowance cannot be used against any other types of calls or SMS.

- 5.2 The “from” field in message header will display the caller's number (where the caller's number is available).
- 5.3 If the MessageBank Plus service is activated, notifications via the Visual Voicemail application will replace your standard MessageBank SMS notifications.

However an account holder who has a 13 digit account number will be charged at consumer rates for calling 101 regardless of the account holder's plan - please refer to the MessageBank section.
- 5.5 Messages received will be marked as “saved” in your mailbox.

Some functionality available on standard MessageBank will not be available if the MessageBank Plus service is activated (for example, Wake up Calls, Personal Receptionist, Mailbox to mailbox messaging, Fun greetings, Group distribution list, Special delivery, Telephone delivery (OMD), Reminder, hang up messages). In addition MessageBank Plus does not support video messages.

Processing of MessageBank Plus messages

- 5.12 Where a voice message is processed using MessageBank Plus you will receive a sound file on the Visual Voicemail application in place of the SMS notification.

Use and content of messages

- 5.13 We are not responsible for the content of any voice mail messages you receive from another person. We do not censor or filter messages that pass through the system and we simply supply a technical service enabling voice messages to be accessed via the Visual Voicemail application.

7 Callback Notification Service

The Callback Notification Service has been replaced with the Message2txt™ service. Refer to section 11 below for the terms and conditions of the Message2txt™ service.

Part F – Managing Calls

8 Message2txt™

Message2txt™ service

- 8.1 Message2txt™ is a service that converts a voice message, of up to 10 seconds duration received by your Message2txt™ service, from speech to text and delivers it to your mobile as a text message.
- 8.2 The “from” field in the converted text message will display the caller’s number (where the caller’s number is available). Where the callers’ number is not available (for example a blocked mobile, restricted number or a silent line) the “from” field will be “Message2txt”™.
- 8.3 If parts of a message cannot be converted they may be marked or omitted from the converted message. If an entire message cannot be converted for any reason (for example due to excessive background noise) a text notification will be sent.

Eligibility

- 8.4 You are eligible to receive the Message2txt™ service if you are a Telstra Mobile Network post-paid or prepaid customer on a compatible voice service.
- 8.5 You can activate or deactivate the Message2txt™ service by calling us on 125111.

Compatibility

- 8.6 Voice2Text and MessageBank or Call Forwarding to another number will take precedence over the Message2txt™ service.

Processing of Message2txt™

- 8.7 Where a voice message is processed using speech-to-text translation:
- (a) it may take up to 20 minutes for the converted text message or notification to be sent to you (on average it should take around 3.5 minutes);
 - (b) you will receive a converted text message or notification;
 - (c) we do not promise that the speech-to-text translator correctly translates the message or that the conversion will be word for word;
 - (d) if parts of a message cannot be converted they may be marked or omitted;
 - (e) in some instances, we may use a third party agent to assist in the translation of individual words or some or all of a voice message;

Part F – Managing Calls

- (f) the speech-to-text conversion may not always convert a message, for example because the message is not in English, because of poor diction, poor connection, context or background noise.

Use and content of messages

- 8.8 We are not responsible for the content of any converted Message2txt™ messages you receive from another person. We do not censor or filter messages that pass through the system and we simply supply a technical service enabling voice messages to be converted to text messages.
- 8.9 You must not use or permit the Message2txt™ service to be used:
 - (a) to breach any laws, standards, content requirements or applicable codes of conduct;
 - (b) to infringe a third party's rights; or
 - (c) in connection with any machine-to-machine or automated or commercial applications.

We may suspend, limit or disable your use of the Message2txt™ service at any time if you have used or allowed the service to be used in a way described above.

Charges

- 8.10 We do not charge for any SMS generated by the service nor do we charge to have the service activated and available.
- 8.11 A party calling you will incur normal charges when they reach the Message2txt™ service.

Delivery

- 8.12 We will take reasonable steps to deliver the converted text message or notification to you. However, in some circumstances the message may be undeliverable. More detail about when an SMS may not be deliverable is set out in Part E - SMS and Messaging.

Part F – Managing Calls

11 Removing call diversions

11.1 Where you use a Telstra Mobile Service (for example, Call Forward) to divert or forward your calls to another number or service, we may remove the diversion if we believe that it:

- has been incorrectly programmed;
- interferes with another person's use of a telecommunications service; or
- causes a nuisance to another person.

We will notify you before this happens.
